

PARTICIPANT REPORT

AndiFriadi

Andalas University

INDONESIA

First of all, I like to express my deepest gratitude to 3rd ASGO Workshop committee that has invited me in this event. This workshop very useful for me and give me new insight and information in the field of gynecologic oncology.

This is my first experience to Seoul. I came to Seoul on August 21st 2014, thank you Eunji An for your co-operation and information regarding the technical departure (bus and subway) from Incheon Airport to Hotel Pharos in Sincheon. Sincheon is very attractive area. I explored the Sincheon and then went to Dongdaemun by subway, despite a rainy day from afternoon to evening. The next day, I moved to Seoul Olympic Parktel at Monchontoseong. I have a roommate; his name is Fu Jin Liu (China). We discussed conditions in each country and especially management in Gynecologic Oncology.

Date 23rd-24th August 2014, the day of workshops, events are divided in seven sessions. Thanks for all the lecturer who have shared the knowledge in this workshop. Translational research is a new science that is very interesting. ASGO Committee has prepared the workshop very well planned and organized.

Date 25th August 2014, I should go back to Indonesia. Thank you ASGO committee for the invitation in the workshop, I will share the information and knowledge that I received in workshop to my colleagues in Indonesia.